Oxford County United Parish

Embracing Albany, North Lovell, Stoneham and the Waterfalls, Pastoral Staff: Revs. W. I. Bull, B. F.
Westworth, A. C. Townsend

Rev. and Mrs. Bull attended the Convocation at Bangor, Sunday last week, and report a very successful session, with very helpful lectures.

On account of the number of cases of the prevailing distemper, no church services were held there last Sunday. The service at Albany were omitted also, on account of the weather. Revs. Bull and Westworth left for Bangor on Sunday afternoon to attend a Rural Church Workers' Conference to be held on Monday.

Rev. A. C. Townsend was called to attend the funeral of Mr. W. W. Durgin, who died of a Civil War veteran and perhaps the last member of the military service that attended the body of Abraham Lincoln from Washington to Springfield.

On Sunday evening, William Jordan of Waterford passed away at the home of a relative at Norway Lake. Mr. Jordan had had a long illness. The funeral was held at his late home in Waterford on Wednesday afternoon, attended by Rev.
A. C. Townsend.

Moving pictures will be shown this week at the usual time and places.
On the Sunday evenings during the month of February there will be shown in the different churches a stereoscopic lecture on "The Negro in the South." The schedule of dates and places has not yet been arranged.

SUMNER-LABRADOR POND
Double Funeral Held—Ellen Spaulding Ill.

Relatives and friends of Charles and Winslow Young of South Paris were undoubtedly to learn of their death which occurred Friday, Jan. 25, within a few hours of each other. They had both been in very poor health for a long time. A double funeral was held at the Universalist church, Sunday, at 2:30 o'clock.

Ellen Spaulding was taken very suddenly with appendicitis Sunday, January 27, late in the afternoon and was operated on at 11:30 that evening at her home.

successful and she is resting as comfortably as could be expected. Edith Braden is the nurse in attendance.

ber that is being hauled to the Hodgkins Mill.

weather.

Paul Stetson's family, who are sick with "flu" are improving. Mrs. Briggs from Canton is caring for the sick ones and William Sellinger is doing their chores.

been ill are both much improved in health.

were callers recently, on her brother-in-law, Leelan Andrews, and family.

Julian Dyer was in South Paris Sunday, to attend the funeral of Charles and Winslow Young.

Muskkrat raising has the advantage over the production of most other fur-bearing animals in that muskrats feed and breed when left to themselves, and all the owner of a marshland has to do is to maintain an attitude of "watchful waiting" until the trapping season.
Muskkrat fur is increasing in popularity, and muskrat raising should receive consideration in any agricultural plan of land utilization, according to the Biological Survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Marshes provide the food;
the muskrats take care of themselves and, being prolific, will produce enough young for the trapping season.

Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

John Woodman: "The custom of sending valentines originated in the days of the youth of the day on the feast of February 14th, names of girls to whom they were devoted themselves during the coming year. I used to do that way when young."

The Weary Club has decided: "No husband or wife can be free to come and go as he or she pleases. The very essence of marriage is that it is a tie that binds."

Overheard on the street when passing a group of talking women: "Yes, he gives his daughter $255 a month. It isn't enough. Last month she spent $350 on hose and dresses alone. But what can you expect of a daughter whose father has his name in electric lights over the gate at his home and painted in big letters on his cars?"

Kennedy Gurney: "It might be interesting to some people to know that there is a range of the highest mountain and the depth of the ocean."

Leon Schenk, four old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schenk of Lone Pine Farm Pike Hill astonished his folks the other morning at breakfast by saying, "There are only three men and one woman I love." "Well, who are they?" inquired the parents. "Well," says the little fellow, "Daddy, Mamma, Santa Claus, and the Rawleigh man." It seems the Rawleigh man always presents the young fellow with some gun when he calls.

Some years ago Judge Pattenall wrote regarding Obediah Gardner as follows: "Like a true Granger he has long ago discarded the plow for a private car, put his horse into a long distance telephone and turned his cabbage leaves into telephone blanks."

It looks now as if he spoke the truth of all the farmers, of the nation, including the blueberry pickers and potato raisers.

We want to read John J. Ingalls' "Catfish Aristocracy." Will borrow or buy a copy. Won't be one of our readers till we see where we can get it.

What Don Deits don't know, he makes inquiries to find out. He knows that as we thought we knew, but we don't.

"What kind of a boot-leg concealer is 'mable sweet'?" It seems to be flowing down in the Virginia valley, where I see the Woodstock Herald an expert at making it has just been set to building roads under the supervision of the sheriff. It may have merit."

Cheering news sent in from nearby: "It was ten below at our door this morning. At the foot of the hill the glass registered 20, and over at the river it was down to thirty. Cold enough. But I see that the smoke hangs low in the valley, a sure indication of warmer weather, with either a thaw or a rain. My son-in-law says he will take the family South next winter. Fuel bill and extra clothing is a big tax here."

"The calendar appearing in your Jan. 15th. edition is good for two hundred years and more. It is some out of the usual and should be saved for future reference. Thus writes Frank E. Mitchell who loaned us the use of the plate. The original drawing was done by George A. M. Alexander, N. Y. with pen and ink. "The artist has passed to the land of Nevermore."

Chester Hammond of Portland formerly employed on the Oxford Democrat has been a visitor in the back shop. He works in the print shop of the Southworth Press and with his wife is taking a short vacation in South Paris.

Walter L. Waite says we are giving away flies tied by him. Thus breaking an agreement. No more flies of his make will come our way. We feel he accuses us wrongfully and without sufficient evidence. This is how he put it up:

Walter says that George Stinson said that Newton Newkirk told him that Fred Stinson gave him a long-tailed fly. He (Newkirk) caught an 8 pound salmon with it, which is now being mounted by Nash of Maine. The fish, he says, bears unmistakable evidence of having been lured to its death on one of "The Last Resorts." How he tells, is unknown. to us. We claim to be wrongfully accused even though we did give Mr. Newkirk a fly. It might have been one of Mrs. Stevens' make, who knows? We don't.

Skaters keep away from the bog above Cumming's mill, and the lake. The gates are open, the water being drawn down and the ice is not safe. This condition will be in force for a number of weeks, so skating must be found elsewhere.

Two copies of "The Clark News" comes to our desk. It is published in Worcester by the under graduates of Clark University of that city. Horace A. Brown of Norway is assistant managing editor that accounts for our receiving them. Horace did good work on this paper last summer. Somebody is doing the same on the News. It is a fine column, good paper sheet and has a business look about it. Price $2.00, single copies five cents. It carries a reasonable amount of advertising and is giving the boys practical experience.

E. G. Farrum: "Want to renew my subscription to the paper—the old thing don't amount to nothing, but can't get along without it. Only way I have of knowing what my neighbors are doing." In speaking of a recent snow storm and ice he said: "Wish that tractor would let the snow alone up our way when there is only a few inches of it. Here last week it came up and cleared off the few inches that came, then it warmed up and melted it down in many places to the girls and had to haul ice over it all the week with one runner in the ice, the other on the dirt. Would like to see that tractor work in some storms like we had nine years ago—we may get some yet."

F. E. Mitchell: "In New York I was offered the nomination of Assemblyman with the promise that if I made good (did as instructed) at Albany, that I could then have the Congressional nomination to go to Washington. And these nomination money and the money for campaign had no difficulty in electing its nominees in my District. But I could see nothing attractive in it."

It is a pretty folder and shows off Meredith, N. H. to good advantage, but not a bit better than the town deserves. They have all the attractions and even more than is shown in the booklet. They have a lot of good people there, as well as beautiful lakes, mountains, fish and scenery. It shows the water on which we fished as a boy and the growth and enterprise of the town since we left. We feel it is the best exploiting edition of any issued in New Hampshire. It is home designed and printed by the News Job Print, Meredith, N. H.

Auto chains and number plates lead the list for found articles of late. These are here waiting on one reader. It is by paying the price of the intelligence and, advertising same.

SEND LIST CIVIL WAR SOLDIERS

A few weeks ago our correspondent in Stow suggested that the correspondents or some one interested in the Oxford County towns, give a list of the Civil War veterans of their towns with other interesting facts.

This is a fine thing to do—send them in. One town, Lowell, responded last week and the item printed in last week's issue. Denmark has responded—here is what the writer of Denmark has to say: "Bridgton's oldest citizen since the passing of Elnah Littlefield, is Joseph Gammon, 90, a veteran of the Civil War. Besides Mr. Gammon, Bridgton claim nine veterans of the Civil War, as follows: Granville Burnell, William Bridgman, Lorenzo Courser, Albion Carsley, at Togus; Rufus Allen, Charles Foster, Lieutenant H. D. Littlefield, David Saunders and Alpheus Richardson."

In answer to the roll call for '61 soldiers, will say there is only one left of the 125 who went to the front in '61-'65 from Denmark. That is, there are only two widows of '61 soldiers still living here. The writer of this is one of the soldier's widows, and would like very much to hear from other towns. I am well past eighty, so please hurry up.

Brother Waterman, poet of Mechanic Falls, comes back to us in this manner: "Thanks for the notice of 'Contemporary Poets.' I had expected something piquant and original. I got it."

"But you can't slam poets, because you are disqualified—because you had the disease yourself. Some years ago, when you were 'under the weather' over in Meridith, N. H. and writing 'Barn Door Sketches' if I remember right, you came out one week with something like this: 'The weather'."

"This is poetry—the best I ever wrote."

"That was a gem, Fred. I would have liked to have written that. By the way: I have sent your letter review, with others, to Baker, so I don't know what will happen to it, but I herewith give you warnings."

The citizens of South Paris will extend congratulations to the snowshoe racers from Montreal Thursday, who are expected to finish the lap from Bethel early in the afternoon. A grand reception and dance for the Montreal racers will be given at an opportunity to meet the athletes. The final dash for Lewiston will be made Friday morning.

An itinerant entertainer's pictorial banner hanging from windows in the Opera House and above the store of Eliot A. Fuller started the village jokers on a new line. Pictured on the banner is a hand-cupping doing his stuff, with the explanation "Escape Artist" and "Masked Marvel." His Eliot and his clerk, Oliver Foss, are busy answering the question which of the two is the escape artist and which the man behind the mask.

A business telegram of 289 words was cut from Chicago to the law office of Robert Dow on Tuesday. This might be worth aught monetary for a news story to a publication, but quite out of the ordinary in the line of brevity observed in general business.

We do hope the ground hog will see his shadow. We want more winter so we can burn oil.

STATION C-U-B-S

Cup Reporter Announcing

Merry Christmas, everyone! Isn't it just great to think that this merry old Santa Claus is about to arrive once more? Just think of all the wonderful presents he is going to bring us. "This said that boys and little boys and girls receive presents, but you know I don't have to worry about getting mine because I was told that I am in a class all by myself. Golly, I don't know just what I was meant by that, but I guess it's all right."

Anyway, I'm pretty sure that he will leave the Ward 8 tube a real live, bounding hockey team—in fact, it's on the way now; and when it gets here (which will be very soon) we will immediately claim the hockey championship of Oxford County and let any other aspirants to the title try to beat us. Blah! Blah!—I have spoken. So saith the Great Spirits (of Ammonia).

He will also leave us a New Year in which to enjoy ourselves to the utmost. We will take advantage of this latter present and give in our full measure of fun and "whoops." Next week we celebrate our "annual!" You can't begin to realize the wonderful time we will have at this party. Just to give you an inkling of what it will be—all the enjoyable programmes that could be conceived from four very imaginative minds acting as a committee for entertainment.

Yeah! and—Well, I'll be a—Oh! please excuse the Russian, but Walter Chandler just kindly reminded me that Christmas took place just a month and day ago and therefore this Merry Christmas gag might just as well go into the waste basket. Now if that wouldn't make your knock-kneed grandmother bow-legged.

Well, be as it may, but a hockey team we'll have and our happy gatherings also. Yes, of course our challenge still stands. Bring on your would-be title aspirants. Address all CUBS correspondence to Senior Cub, Leslie Gammon, and he will forward it to the proper Cub committee.

Good-night, boys and girls. See you all in the Metropolitan Theatre in Boston next Fourth of July. Station C-U-B-S signing off. Cup Reporter announcing. (Don't say anything, but personally I think this reporter is "goofy.")

MILLETVILLE SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Milletville branch of the Universalist Sunday School has had only two meetings this month. The first Sunday, Jan. 7th, the weather forbade; Jan. 14th, the prevailing epidemic of bronchitis kept the school closed. There was no meeting. January 21st, the meeting was with Mrs. Harry Millett, and with 14 members and two visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Loughey present. Two teachers were absent but the classes carried on just the same with substitutes. "God, the Creator" was the service followed and a small collection was taken.

January 27th, the meeting was with Mrs. Rust and Mrs. S. I. Jackson and there were 14 members present, and as usual, Capt. Warren who spent the week end with Eva Marion Jackson and Alma Dunn and George Dunn who spent the week end with Elizabeth and Alpheus Jackson, and Dorcas Richardson. The service was in the Senior Class. Mrs. S. I. Jackson acted as substitute for Mrs. Fred Lovejoy, the teacher. Mrs. Rust Jackson took charge of the service as well as her own, Beginners' Class. The Service of Jesus, the Leader, was followed and the Superintendent gave a talk on Zealously Following Him as a Leader. The slogan was "It is good to be zealously affected always in a good thing." A small collection was taken and the money will be turned over to the Superintendent at the village. Dorothy Millett, Marion Millett, Lillian and Kenneth Lovejoy have received their bronze pins for four successive Sundays attendance.

C. H. Sargent: "I called on C. G. Bliss today, (Wednesday) and he is bright and cheerful, though confined to the room and bed most of the time. He occasionally sits on the veranda in the sun. He seemed pleased to see me. I remained only a few minutes as I did not want to tire him."

The boys' and girls' basket ball teams journey across the line, Friday evening to meet Paris High School in the gym. A large delegation from the school will form the cheering section. This has been the annual mid-winter event for both schools with plenty of keen rivalry and good financial returns. The games for Norway are scheduled for March 6.

B. G. McIntire & Son shipped a quantity of lumber to see me. I will more to follow within a few days.

Tom Austin, day fireman at the W. F. Tubbs Co., has given up the job and is enjoying a vacation for a while.

Radio Law Affects Maine

(From Portland Press Herald)

It has been suggested by the radio commission in Washington, to have a law enacted prohibiting broadcasting stations to use more than 10,000 watts and to limit the maximum power that may be used to this figure.

The only known way to overcome static, which interferes so seriously with reception, is to use more power. Stations with a maximum power of 10,000 watts may satisfactorily serve the people living within a certain radius of the station but beyond that radius the reception of such broadcasting is uncertain and "sketchy." It is only the big powered stations that can be relied upon, the stations using more than 10,000 watts, some of them using as much as 50,000 watts.

This proposed law vitally concerns every radio owner in Maine. If it is passed, if a limit of 10,000 watts is placed on broadcasting power that can be used, then nearly all of the radio owners in Maine will practically be deprived of the pleasure and use they now get from their receiving sets. Maine is in the Northeast corner of the Country. All the broadcasting stations of any power to the west of this State, Cincinnati, Ohio. If they are cut down, then the radio owners in Maine will get very little for their money under normal conditions, and when atmospheric conditions are bad, they will get little or nothing.

The proposed law will practically eliminate the value of stations WLW, WGY, WEAJ, and WJZ, all high powered stations. When these stations are taken off the dial, so far as the average radio owner is concerned, the radio receiving sets now owned in this State will be of little use.

To be sure by "tuning up" these sets, purchasing more tubes, buying more expensive sets, using more electricity, radio owners may get reception from stations using 10,000 watts, but they cannot get the big stations from which emanate the finest and most expensive programs.

In this emergency there is only one thing for Maine people to do and if it is to be at all effective it must be done immediately. Letters must be written forthwith to Maine's senators and representatives in Congress urging them to oppose the law that is proposed and to use their influence in Congress to prevent such a law being given any consideration.

While we are about it we might also say that Maine people ought to make an effort to have the wave length allotted to station WJH in Portland extended to more than 500 meters. With a longer wave length this Maine station would prove of greater value to the State. As matters now are, with a short wave length WJH cannot be heard at all in some parts of the State and reception from it is "sketchy" outside of a radius of 40 or 50 miles of Portland.

The radio commission has declared that the broadcasting power of WJH should be increased. But to do this will necessitate a further investment of at least $50,000. The sum now invested in the receivers of station WJH is large and it will probably be some time before anyone will build a broadcasting station in Maine with greater power than WJH now has. Having a station which can cover a larger territory than WJH now covers at times is a valuable asset to all the people of Maine and because of the peculiar conditions in this State radio owners here should exert their influence to have the radio commission change the wave length of this local station.

It is estimated that there are now in use in Maine more than 60,000 radio sets. The number of such sets in use in the rural sections of the State are greater, proportionally, than in the cities and large towns. It is estimated that the "saturation" of radio sets in Maine is over 50 per cent. This means that 50 per cent of the families in Maine now own radio receiving sets of some kind. The average cost of the sets now in use is estimated to be $90. If these figures are correct then a new investment in radio receiving sets in Maine more than $5,000,000.

This investment is being steadily increased. The trend is towards the purchase of more costly radio sets, and this is rendered necessary in Maine because this State gets its radio programs entirely from the West and North, having no stations of its own on the East and none on the South.

If the proposed law limiting the power of broadcasting stations to 10,000 watts is passed by Congress, then fully 50 per cent of the radio apparatus now in use in this State will be of little or no value. The people will be compelled to invest twice as much money as they have now spent for radio sets if they are to get the same service at all and when they have done this the service they get will not be nearly as satisfactory as it is with stations in operation, from at least one of which they may now, under all conditions, get something at any time.

Maine Senators and Congressmen seeking radio users of this State because their handicaps, under the most favorable conditions, are much greater than are those of any other radio owners in any part of the Country.

Our people, who own radio sets, should immediately seek to impress upon the Senators and Representatives in Congress from Maine, that they desire to have their stations protected. If there is delay in doing this there will soon come a time when most of the radio receiving sets owned in Maine will be as dumb as the proverbial oxen. Practically useless when atmospheric conditions are bad and with limited range when they are at their best.

Only by saving the high powered stations and having a longer wave length of station WJH extended, can radio owners in Maine hope to get any satisfaction out of their radio investments.

LONG DELAYED ABSENCE

George R. Stanford, Lovell raised and educated, is visiting in Norway. He arrived from No. 1 Street, Boston, last week. It is his first call in 34 years. He is related to the numerous Stearns family of Lovell and Ben Russell is his grandfather. Also the late Frank Martin, carpenter and contractor, is a forebear. George worked as a carpenter on the Tim Stearns house—now the home of Fred S. Brown—the summer after the big fire in 1894. He left when the job was completed and neglected to get here until now. He is a little disabled and waiting the slow process of month repairs. A wisdom tooth was pulled 4 weeks ago and he hasn't fully recovered, but is happily on the gain.

Mr. Stanford ceased to use hand tools some years ago and finds it more agreeable, as well as profitable to sell real estate and paying securities. We accept his word for it.
If weather permits, he expects to pass through Lovell on his return to Boston.

From the large trees in a woodland a much higher percentage of the better and higher priced grades of lumber can be cut than from the smaller ones. The owner of the farm woods gets more for his work by cutting only the larger logs. For example, the total value of the lumber in a 26-inch tree is some 35 times that of the lumber in a 9-inch tree, although the volume is only 19 times as great. One of the chief advantages of selective cutting is that it makes possible the removal of the greatest value with the least waste.

Getting Up Nights Is Nature's Danger Signal

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, Jeffersonville, Ohio says, "I feel I am doing real missionary work when I tell or write how my wife was relieved of a serious case of bladder irritation with Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). She had to get up 6 to 8 times each night." It is a case of bladder as epson salts do on bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes getting up nights. The tablets cost 25c each at L. V. Ashton's.
